

Cancer Educational Wellness Series

Program supported by a grant from the Climb for Cancer Foundation.

Danielle DiGennaro, ANP-C

Danielle DiGennaro, ANP-C, is a nurse practitioner at UF Health with the University of Florida College of Medicine Division of Palliative Care. She received her bachelor's in biology from State University of New York College Geneseo and later pursued a Bachelor of Science in nursing at Columbia University. Danielle worked at Duke University in advanced heart failure as a registered nurse while obtaining her Master of Science in Nursing, in an adult medicine track.

Danielle continued to work at Duke University in cardiology as a nurse practitioner before moving to Northern California and transitioning into palliative care for Sutter Health. Danielle started working with UF Health in 2018. She also has experience as a hospice nurse practitioner, in California and Florida.

.....

How to Utilize Over-the-counter CBD Products – Are They Safe?

Monday, December 13, 2021

1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Free class series

.....

The availability and advertising for cannabidiol, or CBD, products has become overwhelming. We see these products and claims about their healing benefits in stores, gas stations and magazines. CBD products are available over-the-counter but does that mean they're safe and when should they be used? During this workshop we will discuss safety information and when to include your provider and pharmacist in the discussion about consuming these products.

This educational class is offered to cancer patients, family members and the community to promote health and quality of life. Classes are free and hosted online.

This month, the Cancer Educational Wellness Series presentation will be available ONLINE ONLY. Visit UFHealth.org/cancer-educational-wellness-series for more information and to join the class via Zoom.

Palliative Care

For more information, please contact Chris Morgan at 352.733.1233 or email at christopher.morgan@medicine.ufl.edu.